Advises Combination Read Work.

At the beginning of training I should advise a sort of combination walk and run over a good roes of from fifteen minutes to one hour in length. The amount of this work done must depend upon the results. After this sort of training has been continued for some time the athlete should try himself cut in a real race of a few miles to see what sort of progress he is making. When walking you should go along for about six miles an hour. To do this you will have to skip or half run. But I know of nothing that is better exercise or that will get a man in condition more quickly. As far as possible this running should be done in squads and over roads and ground not too hard. By all means it should not

In a little more than another week two Marathon runs. will be engaging the attention of Norwich and New London sport followers, because of the entries of local men in both of them. On Fast Day in New London Carter Coilins of New Haven is booked to race. Wilbur Smith of New London over the regulation distance of 26 miles 25; yards, and on Patriot's Day, April 19, Bill Wicks of the state hospital is expected to compete in the Boston run. For the Coilins-Smith race the balance of the purse is to be posted with The Norwich Bulletin by April 7th, according to the terms made when the forfeit mony was posted.

All three of the runners named have been in active training, for the stiff grind for which they are entered, and in view of the revival of lecal interest in the sport, some advice on Marathon training, given by Mike Murphy, the celebrated trainer at the University of Pennsylvania, will be followed with interest:

If you have been smoking cigarettes cut them out for good. If you feel that you have to smoke, confine yourself to a cigar or pipe, but you will be far better off if you can get along without them. You will have to give them up anyhow when you begin serious training, so it will be best to start now. And, above all, don't drink anything alcoholic under any circumstances.

though it requires just as much skill and ability to win any of the other championships.

To all the youngsters who wish to try for this long, bard run I say begin to train for it by living the simple life. This means that you should take the very best care of yourself. In particular, eat good, sensible food, neither too much nor too little. The training for this race, as well as the race itself, will be a severe drain on a man's energy, and the first step is to build up the proper vitality. Let your hours of sleep the regular and of sufficient length. There are altogether too may athletes who think they can violate these rules concerning sleep with impunity. For a time it may not seem to matter, but when the critical test comes they will realize their mistake.

Next athletes should take systematic exercise every day. Every fellow will have to use his own judgment in determining the distance he shall runeach day. This varies in different men, and such runner must judge for himself by the effect it has on him. If a man sleeps well, eats well, and does not lose weight or strength by his exercise he may be assured that his course of training agrees with him and if it does he will increase in weight and strength, or at least he will held on to his weight.

At the beginning of training I should the effects upon his heart. The othletic heart is largely a myth. am I that they have not suffered as a result of their strenuous running in their younger days. It is no doubt true that some of them have enlarged hearts, but the heart is an automatic organ that adapts itself to conditions very quickly, and no healthy youngster who leads a normal life nood fear the effects upon his heart. The othletic heart is largely a myth.

MARKET LIVENS UP. Influence Makes Itself Felt in Fercing Sales at Lewer Prices.

Sear Influence Makes Itself Felt in Fercing Sales at Lower Prices.

New York, April 5.—Speculation was more animated teday than for some days previously, and the stock market appeared active in contrast with the duliness of preceding weeks. The change was due largely to a sortie by the bear party, which received considerable re-enforcement and was fairly successful in its efforts. As soon as the market opened large amounts of stock were offered at concessions and prices yielded. Much of the stock was said to come from interests which had been committed to the buil side for some time. The market railied at midday, but selling was renewed late in the session and the close was heavy at slight net losses on the day.

The reason mest commonly advanced for the selling was uncasiness over possible tariff legislation. The Washington situation developed no new phase today, the president's message to congress being entirely in Wall street's expectations. There was a feeling in some quarters, however, that although radical tariff revision could of course be prevented, there must necessarily be a period of hesitation on the part of interests most directly affected until it is clear just what final action, if any, is to be taken. This feeling was deubtless responsible for some selling of long stocks, although spaculation seemed to derive its chief impetus from short selling.

The widest moves of the day were in a number of special stocks, chief among which was Peeple's Gas of Chicago. The election in that city of a mayoralty candigate pledged to attempt to lower the price of gas led to heavy selling of that stock, which had an extreme decline of 41-2. Baltimore and Onio came into sudden preminence which was not explained clearly. The stock was strong in London and Berlin before the opening here, and gained two points in this market.

A report that the Pennsylvania railroad had offered to purchase the Union Pacific holdings of Baltimore and Ohio at 116, and that the offer had been rejected, was denied. Union Facific preferred, a stock which seldom figures to any extent in the market, advanced almost as much as Baltimore and Ohio, American Can preferred, for which there is some expectations of higher dividends, also rose steadily. Associated Oil, which sold at 601-2 on Monday, broke today to 52, and Canadian Pacific lost three points from yesterday's high record.

Holyoke, Mass., April 5.—There was a good sized crowd at Washington hall this evening to witness the wrestling match between Bill Collins of Westerly and Olansky, the Pole, of North Adams. Both men were in fine condition and put up a game fight from start to finish. The Pole seemed the stronger and forced the match for the first fifteen minutes, but the first fall went to Collins on a jackknife hold in 32 minutes. Collins took the next fall in 8 minutes on a head scissors and bar hold. The match was full of excitement and the audience was pleased with the exhibition. Jack O'Keefe was referee. GOSSIP FOR THE BASEBALL FANS

Sheldon Lejeune, champion long-distance thrower, now with Brooklyn, has a $25 fine hanging over his head from the Central league, for slapping an umpire in the closing days of last season. President Carson of the Cen-tral says it must be paid if Lejeune expects to be of any use to Brooklyn.

Vic Willis, the Cardinal pitcher who was sold by the St. Louis club to the Chicago Cubs during the winter, but who announced his retirement from the big league, will manage the New-ark (Del.) team in the Tri-County league this season. Willis recently purchased a hotel in Newark, and his new baseball venture will not inter-fere with his business.

President William Grayson of the Louisville baseball club has applied to the national commission to have Pitcher Chick Fraser, formerly of the Cubs, reinstated, in which case Fraser will be given a trial with Louisville. Fraser is under suspension and a $200 fine hangs over him for his failure to report to New Orleans.

Few of the Pirates like the new rule which gives a batter who attempts to sacrifice, and who after advancing the runner, lands safely on first, a hit. Heretofore it has been the law that when a batter attempted to lay that when a batter attempted to lay one down and through slow work on the part of the fielders, or for any other reason, both he and the runner from first to second were safe, the batter was charged with a time at bat and wasn't oredited with a hit. Tommy Leach's idea is that this rule will reach the much playing for every my Leach's idea is that this rule will result in too much playing for averages. Tommy says that a batter will be sorely tempted to lay one down in the hope that the play will fall, knowing that he has several chances to escape being charged with a time at bat. For instance, if the bunt goes safe the batter gets a hit. If an error is made "the play fails" and still the batter escapes. If the play is made perfectly and the batter is retired after sacrificing his man he gets credit for a sacrifice hit. This gives the batter sacrifice hit. This gives the batter all the best of the argument, accord-ing to Leach's contention.—Pittsburg
